“North American storage and transportation trends, how could the crude oil market change over the rest of the year”

Featuring

Brian Busch

Director, Oil Markets and Business Development, Genscape, Inc.

Taking an integrated view on crude oil supply, demand and imports with Genscape's proprietary pipelines and refineries data, Brian will provide a thorough discussion of how the crude oil market could change over 2016, with consideration of the major risk and uncertainties to this outlook. Brian will address the rate of US capacity expansion, US storage, and other current changes related to the physical fundamentals of the crude oil market.
