

NYU CENTER FOR RELIGION AND MEDIA PRESENTS

A MARATHON RUN:

Combatting Racism and Raising Religious Literacy with SIMRAN JEET SINGH

Religion scholar DR. SIMRAN JEET SINGH joins Dr. Drew Thomases (San Diego State University) to discuss his acclaimed new children's book Fauja Singh Keeps Going, the first from a major publisher to center a Sikh person's story.

Dr. Singh, a former Luce Foundation Fellow and host of the web series Becoming Less Racist, will open the Scholar in the World series, dedicated to amplifying learning for the public. Dr. Singh regularly appears in podcasts and mainstream media to discuss religious diversity, racial equality, and the Sikh tradition. An audience Q & A will follow.

DEC • 2 • 2020

7:30-8:30 pm EST

RSVP HERE

Co-sponsors: Center for Media, Culture, and History; Religious Studies. Made possible by a grant from the Henry R. Luce Initiative on Religion in International Affairs.